

Andrew Li (Zhanlin)

Andrew Li graduated from Hanson in May 2015, and has since established his own business,

Myst Escape, a theme-based gaming arena in Richmond. As one of the first of its kind in British Columbia, Myst Escape hosts over 8,000 square feet in playable area with 5 different themes. Andrew Li built his team while he was at Hanson; he loved being able to connect with his classmates and his professors who were more than willing to mentor him.

In fact, one of our professors at Hanson taught Andrew how the dynamic roles each individual plays contribute in a tightly knit community, and he applied this knowledge to his initial team of seven. He appreciated the focus on building communities and collaboration — so much so that as the public relations leader, he is constantly involved in nurturing relationships with charities by hosting their activities on site. One piece of advice Andrew would like to share to our students: nurture relationships with your colleagues and find a mentor!
